4. Allocation of the income category

4.1 Methodology

The income category is assigned to the student on the basis of the ISEP index, taking into account the economic and property situation of the all the members of the student's original and de facto family.

4.2 Procedure for the allocation of income category

The student who does not belong to the fourth income category has to:

- fill in the ISEP module, which can be found online on Humanitas University website;
- schedule an appointment to hand in the required documents according to the instructions that will be published on the University portal.
- hand in personally or by giving someone a proxy at the administrative office by 21/10/2016:

 - copy of a valid identity document of the student;
 - the documentation attesting the necessary data to be assigned to a specific income category (for more details see par. 4.5 of these Regulations);

The student will be automatically assigned to the fourth income category if:

- he/she does not fill in the ISEP module in accordance with the procedures and deadlines;
- he/she does not hand in the documents in accordance with the procedures and deadlines;
- he/she does not hand in the additional documentation required by the University in accordance with the terms and conditions that will be specified on the occasion of the request;
- he/she provides false, partial, incomplete information or information not matching with the data obtained by the tax authorities or by other bodies.

The University reserves the right to verify the information contained in the submitted declarations and documents, with the student him/herself, with the components of the student's Family and with the appointed authorities.

With the completion and delivery of the ISEP module Humanitas University is authorized to carry out the verification of the data with any third party, including public administration bodies (i.e. with the Register of Companies, the Land Registry, the Conservatories, etc.); the University will be able to exchange information with the tax authorities and other public bodies (regions, municipalities, etc.), also using the opportunity to access the data of the Central Tax Record.

The procedure of assignation of the income category to the student on the basis of the ISEP index is applied both to the students enrolled to the first year and to continuing students.

Should students decide not to be subject to the procedure, they will assigned to the fourth income category.

4.3 Definition of the Conventional Nuclear Family

The Conventional Nuclear Family should refer to a date not preceding the 01/09/2016 according to the following regulations:

a. Student living with one or both parents

Three cases are outlined:

a.1 Student living with both parents or the sole surviving parent

The Conventional Nuclear Family is composed by all the members belonging to the Certificate of Family Status of the student.

a.2 Student living with a single parent, not legally separated or divorced

The Conventional Nuclear Family is composed by all the members belonging to the Certificate of Family Status of both parents, unless specific request of exclusion of certain members is required. This request will be evaluated by the Board of Directors of the University on the basis of reasons and documents specifically provided by the student.

a.3 Student living with only one parent legally separated or divorced

the Conventional Nuclear Family is composed by all the members belonging to the Certificate of Family status of the student and to the one of the parent not living with the student. The latter is included in the Conventional Nuclear Family if the income of the Conventional Nuclear Family is less than € 30,000.

b. Independent student

If a student declares to be living on his/her own, the Conventional Nuclear Family is composed by the student only, provided that the following three conditions are fulfilled at the same time:

- Family Status is different from the one of the parents;
- actual autonomous primary residence, proved by the Certificate of Family status. The primary residence must not be at any of the parents' or relatives' (up to the fourth degree) properties, which they hold to any title (ownership, lease, loan, use, habitation, possession, etc.) nor at any property where they have their dwelling-house, with effect from 01/09/2014;
- the student has, for the year 2015, an income of at least € 30,000.

If even one of the above conditions is not fulfilled, the Conventional Nuclear Family will include the student and all family members belonging to Certificate of Family status of the parents.

c. Married student

The Conventional Nuclear Family is the one indicated by Certificate of Family status of the student provided that the following two conditions are fulfilled at the same time:

- the student lives with the spouse in an estate neither belonging to the parents or relatives up to the fourth degree of relationship of one of the two spouses, nor having been given to one of the two spouses after 01/09/2014;
- the ISEP calculated on the basis of the Conventional Nuclear Family of a married student (and thus composed by the family of the student) should be more than € 40,000.

If even one of the above conditions is not fulfilled, the Conventional Nuclear Family will include together with the student him/herself all family members belonging to Certificate of Family Status of the parents of the student.

d. Student depending on people other than parents

If the student is included in the Family Status of people other than parents, with whom he lives and on whom he is fiscally dependent, the Conventional Nuclear Family is composed by all the members belonging to the Certificate of Family Status of the student. If the student does not meet these requirements, the Conventional Nuclear Family will include the members included in the Certificate of Family Status of the students and in the Certificate of Family Status of the parents.

4.4 Calculation of ISEP index (Index of Economic and Property Situation)

The ISEP index is calculated on the basis of the income of every member of the Conventional Nuclear Family, taking into account both the income produced in Italy and the one produced abroad, as well as any alimony and a percentage of the movable and immovable property held in Italy or abroad. The calculation also recognizes some allowance taking into account particular situations.

The modality of income and property calculation is described below.

If the members of the Conventional Nuclear Family do not have any income, or the latter is particularly low, or the property of the Conventional Nuclear Family is particularly low, the student is required to demonstrate that the Conventional Nuclear Family is able to pay the tuition fee.

- Income

- To calculate the ISEP index the 2015 taxable income, declared in the Income tax return form submitted to the competent Tax Authority or by certificate issued by withholding agents as well as income from abroad non having been taxed and/or declared, is considered. In the case of income deriving from entrepreneurial, professional and artistic activities, also resulting from holding shares, if the documentation submitted will be considered insufficient, incomplete, incoherent, the University reserves the right to apply other indicators to the economic-patrimonial condition.

The taxable income corresponds to what declared in the Income tax return form for the year 2015 (i.e. for Italian tax payers: Modello Unico 2015, Reddito Imponibile Irpef -line RN4 or Modello 730 2016 – redditi 2015 or in absence of the latters, Modello CUD 2016)

- When calculating the ISEP, also other financial incomes not included in the income tax return form are taken into account. These incomes include for instance: interest rates on bonds, certificates of deposit, postal saving bonds, revenues deriving from investment funds and/or shares and or net dividends of corporations, any other movable property not included in the declaration, gained in 2014. Any false declaration of data and/or omission in addition to the penalties pursuant to the Presidential Decree 445/2000 and subsequent amendments, will result in the insertion in the highest income category.
- Alimony
 - To calculate the ISEP index any alimony for the student him/herself or other children of the Conventional Nuclear Family regarding the year 2015 on the basis of a judgment or equivalent procedure according to the legal system of the country of origin are entirely considered for ISEP index calculation, revaluated according to the index of the consumer prices for the families of the workers or employees ISTAT – FOI or equivalent index depending on the country where the judgment has been issued, on 31/12/2015.
- Immovable Property
 - To calculate the ISEP the buildings and building areas held by members of the Conventional nuclear Family in the year 2015 being under full ownership, bare ownership, lease, loan, use, habitation, contribute to the extent of 20% (with the exception of the first house and its adjacencies, to which a percentage of 10% is applied) of the values specified below.
 - For the properties in Italy, the coefficient is applied to the cadastral value: the latter is equal to the cadastral income revaluated of 5% multiplied by a coefficient that varies depending on the cadastral category of the property: 100 for A, B and C categories, except for A/10 and C/1, 50 for A/10 and D categories, 34 for C/1 and E categories; in case of property not yet included in any cadastral category (because it is a new construction or because it has recently varied in size, quality or nature), the base for the calculation will be a provisional cadastral value calculated by an appointed technician and duly communicated to the Ufficio tecnico erariale. The first data to determine the cadastral value of the properties, the cadastral income, can be found in the cadastral documents or in the Modello 730 form under RB or in the Modello UNICO Persone Fisiche form under RB. The second data, the cadastral category can be found in the cadastral documents. For the building lots, the value corresponds to the commercial value on 01/01/2016, in case of difficulties in determining the value it is permitted to consider the IMU value as established by the municipality. For the properties abroad, the coefficient is applied to the commercial value of the building, value resulting from the contract of sale or from a sworn report by a professional according to the regulations of the place where the property is located, or, should these be missing, multiplying the total square meters by a forfeit value of € 500 per square meter. If the property is indicated in the income tax return form in the RW, its value will be considered when calculating the IVAFE tax.

- Movable Property

- To calculate the ISEP index the 10% of the value of the following data on 31/12/2015 is taken into account:

- securities deposit account, bonds, certificates of deposit shares and other similar income;
- Investment funds and units of collective investment and savings;
- investments in listed corporate enterprises;
- investments in partnerships, in companies which are not listed, whose value is identified by the share of the net capital represented by the equity participation, resulting from the latest balance sheet approved before the compilation of the self-certification. In case of exemption from the obligation to draw up the balance sheet, the net capital is represented by the amount of the final unsold stock and of the total cost of the amortizable goods (net of amortizations), and all other assets (all the value shall be certified);
- endowment policies and pension funds of any kind, whose value is equal to the amounts paid up to 31/12/2015;
- the bank account balance for the amount exceeding € 10,000;
- we specify that every member of the Conventional Nuclear Family must provide written declaration evidence that they do not have any other movable properties in addition to those declared in the documentation handed in to the University.

- Deductions and benefits

- Fiscally dependent members of the Nuclear family: for every member of the Conventional Nuclear Family, from the third member including the enrolled student, a reduction of the 10% of the ISEP is granted;

- Nuclear Family with disabled members: for every disabled member of the Conventional Nuclear Family, other than the enrolled student, a reduction of the 10% of the ISEP is granted;
- Members of the Conventional Nuclear Family who live in rented house with a nominal lease contract or in own home (primary residence) with mortgage, a reduction of the total value of the ISEP equal to the 25% of the mortgage or rent payments for the year 2014 is granted;
- Members of the Conventional Nuclear Family who own secondary residences with mortgage, a reduction of the total value of the ISEP equal to the 20% of the mortgage payments for the year 2015 is granted;
